Rock Group Riots

CHICAGO (AP) — Thousands of angry youths stormed a stage in Grant Park Monday after the featured performers at a free rock concert failed to appear and the festival turned into a bloody brick-tossing battle with police.

An estimated 2,000 of the 50,000 youths gathered in the park fought with police and later rampaged through the downtown area smashing cars and store display windows. Several automobiles were set ablaze.

There were 148 persons arrested. More than 100 persons, including 24 policemen, were injured. Three youths were shot and wounded.

Police said it was not determined if the gunshot victims were hit by policemen's bullets.

The melee began shortly after the 4 p.m. starting time announced for a rock group called Sly and the Family Stone. The performers did not appear on stage, and unhappy youths waiting in the muggy, 90-degree heat pelted the stage with stones and bottles.

The concert was sponsored by the Chicago Park Distric to provide an opportunity for Sly and the Family Stone, which canceled several concerts in Chicago recently, to appear and please the disappointed youths.

Neither the rock group nor Park District officials were available today for comment on Monday's riot.

The battle between police and youths started when patrolmen tried to eject young people who stormed the stage. Some youths threw missiles at those intruders on the stage and a policemen was struck.

Squads of police converged on Grant Park and authorities ordered the concert canceled and the field cleared.

Outnumbered police and the rampaging youths battled back and forth over an athletic field for more than three hours in 90degree late afternoon heat.

Tear gas failed to disperse the crowd. One group of youths tried to calm others, but to no avail. One squad car was overturned and two other cars burned. One of those on fire exploded, filling the air with black smoke. Rioters also set trash fires. Cars passing along Lake Shore and Balboa drives were pelted with rocks.

SIKESTON SEWER DEPARTMENT worker Johnny Longstreet, his machine and one co- worker cleaned a sewer in the 500 block of South Kingshighway Monday afternoon while cars drove through rain water ten inches deep one half block south. The cleaning was undertaken to allow water to run off the street more quickly.

Tapes Describe Soviet Torture

NEW YORK (AP) — One describes torture, another death, while a third speaks of revolution. These were the taped voices of Soviet political dissidents heard Monday.

The tapes were brought to the United States by recently expelled CBS correspondent William Cole for radio broadcast this week Monday through Friday and telecast today at 10 p.m. EDT.

On one tape, Vladimir Bukovsky, 27, an intellectual who spent six years in camps, prisons and insane asylums, describes a torture in which a person is rolled head to foot in wet canvas:

"As the canvas began to dry out, it would get tighter and tigher and make the patient feel even worse. There were medical men present while it was taking place who made sure that the patient did not lose consciousness."

He said commitments to asylums are frequently made to isolate dissidents.

On another tape, smuggled from the concentration camp where he is held, writer Alexander Ginsburg charged that 16 political prisoners recently perished for lack of medical care.

He said there was only one doctor in his camp and that "everyone goes in danger of his life."

Andre Amalrik, in a message taped just before his arrest by the KGB—State Security Committee—spoke of revolution in the Soviet Union.

"What may lead to a revolution is the utter lack of good sense in the upper class, which is always trying to avoid any change," said the author of "Can the USSR Survive Until 1984?"

"Gradually, he said, "some people at all events begin to have the idea that all these local smaller problems have their origins in the imperfections of the political system under which we live."

Rescuer Drowns, Boy Saved

LAKE WAPPAPELLO — Wanda Joyce Pearson, 34, Fisk, drowned after she had jumped in to save Edward Reynolds, 7, Kahokia, Ill., from drowning, the state patrol reported.

The accident occurred at the Chaonia Boat dock Monday at 7 p.m.

The youth had gone to the dock with others, including Mrs. Pearson, when he stepped in deep water and went under.

Mrs. Pearson saw the youth go under, jumped in and held the boy's head above water, until the manager of the dock, swam out and brought him safely to shore. Dunn then went to rescue Mrs. Pearson, but she had disappeared.

He recovered her body 10 minutes later but she was pronounced dead on arrival at the Poplar Bluff hospital.

Request To Halt Festival

BENTON— Thomas R. Gilmore, Scott County prosecuting attorney, filed application in circuit court this morning for an injunction to prevent a proposed three day rock festival Sept. 4-6, three miles north of Miner.

In his petition presented to Judge Marshall Craig, Gilmore named as defendants Hayward Brewer and Floretta Brewer, his wife, Johnny Brewer, Mike DuBois, and David Gilliland, and Memphis- St. Louis International Rock Festival, Inc.

Purpose of Gilmore's action, according to the petition, was to "enjoin a certain public nuisance and protect the public health, peace, safety and morals."

Gilmore expects Judge Craig will hold a hearing within two weeks before making a decision whether to grant the injunction.

Gilmore named Hayward Brewer and Floretta Brewer as owners of the land proposed as a rock festival site and he named Johnny Brewer, DuBois and Gilliland as purporting to represent Memphis- St. Louis International Rock Festival, Inc.

In his application Gilmore charged that the corporation is not registered with Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick's office and has no authority to do busines in the state.

The prosecuting attorney charged the proposed rock festival would create public nuisances in the following respects:

1--Location of festival on west and east side of Interstate 55 that "creates the reasonably certain danger that persons attending the festival will attempt to walk across" the highway "endangering their own safety and the safety of motorists."

2--There are not enough trained law enforcement personnel available to control severe pedestrian and motor vehicle traffic.

3-- Defendants plan to attract non- residents of Scott county, who will, "unless controlled by law enforcement agencies and drastic measures," refuse to obey orders of festival and law enforcement regarding property boundaries and illegally possess and use drugs and intoxicants "as exmplified by the announcements of said defendants that all automobiles should be searched for drugs" and "law enforcement agencies should take steps to plan with them for preserving the peace."

4--Law enforcement officials cannot legally search automobiles for drugs and intoxicants.

5-- Drug and alcohol usage make it "reasonably certain" that there will be a normal incidence of rowdyism, personal violence and sickness requiring attention.

6--Insufficient medical facilities.

7--Possible hostile crowd response and possible riots.

8--Health endangerment because of absence of adequate water, sewage, food vending and preparation, and refuse disposal. (Gilmore said health guidelines establish that a crowd of 5,000 people would produce an approximate 15,000 pounds of refuse per day. Gilliland has estimated 25,000 could attend).

9--Inadequate fire fighting facilities.

10--Inadequate facilities for personal cleansing and hygiene.

11--Insufficient number of sanitation officials.

12--Risk to nearby growing crops and animals.

13--Littering.

Gilmore asked for a permanent injunction prohibiting the rock festival.

Peaceful Rock Concert Pulls 17,000 Fans

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Police estimated a peaceful, rollicking crowd of 17,000 turned out Monday night for a free rock concert put on by the city parks and recreation department.

The only problem, police said, was a lack of parking space. They made no arrests, but handed out 25 parking tickets.

The concert was held at Loose Park, near Kansas City's plush Country Club Plaza. Sponsors were surprised at the turnout.

"This is just fantastic," said Stan Plesser, owner of the Vanguard, a mod midtown coffee house. The Vanguard and radio station KUDL co-sponsored the event with the city.

"We had expected about 4,000 to 5,000 persons," Plesser said. "I'm afraid we kind of underestimated."

So did the police department. Traffic was jammed.

Israel Expected To Reluctantly Okay Peace Plan

JERUSALEM (AP) — Indications are mounting that Israel's government will agree reluctantly and with conditions to the 90-day cease-fire proposed by the United States to get Middle East peace talks under way again. But local press reports said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan is considering resigning if the cabinet accepts the American proposal.

A Defense Ministry spokesman termed the reports "rumors," but he admitted, "Dayan is not enthusiastic about the U.S. proposal."

The reports said Dayan had expressed misgivings because the U.S. plan speaks of Israeli withdrawal from he Arab lands captured in the 1967 war. Dayan believes that Israel's security depends on its retaining the Gaza Strip, the Golan Heights taken from Syria, and a coastal strip along the Sinai desert to the Strait of Tiran, the key to Israel's southern water route to East Africa and Asia.

Premier Golda Meir and her cabinet had scheduled another meeting today to discuss their reply to the proposal, but i was postponed for 24 hours to allow "further political clarifications," a government spokesman said. The first cabinet debate on the plan was Sunday. Mrs. Meir may reply to Washington Wednesday night in a speech to the Knesset, the Israeli parliament.

Deputy Premier Yigal Allon went on record Monday night in favor of acceptance, Israel's first ranking minister to do so publicly.

"Even if there are differences of opinion between the U.S. and Israel," Allon told a group of high school newspaper editors, "when the government of the United States takes such an initiative, it appears to me that we should accept it, even if we are not completely satisfied with all the details."

Allon's stand was considered particularly significant because he is a member of the cabinet's foreign affairs and security committee, along with Mrs. Meir, Dayan and Foreign Minister Abba Eban. The committee formulates Israel's foreign policy.

Sources close to the government said a majority of the cabinet now is ready to accept the U.S. proposal with some reservations.

Egypt and Jordan, the other two principals, already have accepted the plan. Syria and Iraq, whose endorsements were not requested by U.S. Secretary of SKTATE William P. Rogers, have condemned it, and the Palestinian guerrilla organizations have vowed to continue fighting in spite of any cease-fire. In its acceptance Jordan reportedly said it could not force the commandos to comply.

The central committee of the Palestinian Resistance Movement in Amman announced that it is sending envoys to the other Arab capitals to explain the guerrillas' opposition to the U.S. proposal.

Israel's reluctance stems from fear that Egypt, freed from the harassment and surveillance of the Israeli air force by a cease-fire period, would strengthen its ground defenses along the Suez Canal as well as move its Soviet antiaircraf missiles up to the waterway. Therefore, the Israelis are expected to say they will join in a new cease-fire only if they get guarantees that the Egyptians cannot exploit the truce period in that manner.

There have been suggestions for a United Nations observation force to guard against any of the antagonists using the lull to bolster its front-line positions. But the Israelis have had no faith in U.N. effectiveness since Secretary-General U Than withdrew the peacekeeping force from Sinai in 1967 at Egypt's demand, an action which helped set the stage for the June 1967 war.

The Israelis also doubt the effectiveness of a cease-fire because of the rejection by the Palestinian guerrilas.

The U.S. plan calls for resumption of peace talks using U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring as the intermediary.

Secrecy Veil Lifted By House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has agreed to lif the veil of secrecy surrounding some of its most important votes, ending a tradition that has endured since 1789.

By voice vote, with only a few scattered no's, the House wrote into a legislative reorganization bill Monday a provision for recorded votes on amendments.

Votes on amendments now are taken under a teller system —borrowed from the British Parliament when Congress first convened in 1789. This system results in a vote total—but no indication of how individual members voted.

Under it, congressmen file past a teller who officially views them as anonymous and simply adds their votes to the running totals.

There is a procedure by which one-fifth of the members can force a later roll call on adopted amendments, but not on amendments which were defeated.

The action, coming in the third week of debate on the bill, is the farthest-reaching of several antisecrecy moves. Earlier, the House opened committee meetings to television and radio coverage, required that votes taken in closed committee meetings be made public and banned the use of proxies in committee votes.

Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill, DMass., a sponsor of the voting change, noted that votes on such key issues as Cambodia and Vietnam policies, the supersonic transport, the multi-warhead MIRV and the antiballistic missile defense system had gone unrecorded.

'Innocent' Man Says, Judge Won't Fine Him

With this statement the judge would not let him plead guilty and entered a not guilty plea. The case was set for trial Aug. 11.

Taylor told the court again "just let me pay it off."

Judge Montgomery would not adher to the request and advised Taylor to seek counsel before he pleaded guilty to something he is innocent of.

In other action Judge Montgomery sentenced Donald Jones, Painton, to 60 days in jail for driving without an operator's license. He was fined $25 on the charge and $5 for improper vehicle registration.

The sentence will be suspended pending payment of fines and good behavior for one year.

Jones also is charged with leaving the scene of an accident, a felony. The case was set for a preliminary hearing Wednesday at Benton.

Edward McCleary, Wyatt, received a suspended 60-day sentence for driving without a license. He was fined$10 on the charge.

A BETTER PERSON

Hundreds of thousands of high school Class of 1970 graduates in thousands of communities throughout our land earned well deserved tributes paid to them for their accomplishments. But in Pennsylvania state, Managing Editor Flamminio of the Coatesville Record singled out one rather unusual high school graduate for special mention.

"So what's a high school diploma?" wrote Editor Flaminio. "For one Coatesville spring graduate, that diploma is the result of several years of effort and long year of waiting.

"Mrs. Etta J. Stroud, 63, (that's right- sixty three) returned to high chool to get her diploma because, she said, 'I thought it would help me to be a better person'."

A better person! — and when you stop to think about it, isn't that one of the great big reasons why America is truly a wondrous land? Mothers dig gardens and plant roses so that they will have a better back yard. Dad works at the office or in the plant or on the road so that the family can have a better home - better than when he was a boy. Parents sacrifice so that sons and daughters can go to school or college in order to be better citizens- better than the last generation. Scientists and researchers labor long in the laboratories so that we can have better medicines, better communications, better food, better things of every description. Good people join together in civic groups, and every one of them have one or more projects aimed towards betterment. Millions of Americans in hundreds of millions of ways strive to make themselves, one way or another, a little better.

The Coatesville Record summed it up: "We do not mention Mrs. Stroud here to simply praise an individual; we mention her as an example of the many persons who have not let years dim their ardor for self improvement. A better world, a better society, and a better community come only after a better individual."

A MAJOR BREAKTHROUGH ON COMPULSORY UNIONISM EVIL

On June 3 of this year, a major breakthrough was made against one of the most intolerable aspects of compulsory unionism - the use of workers' dues without their consent for political campaigning.

Three years ago, George Seay and 28 of his fellow workers made a request to their employer, McDonnell-Douglas Aircraft Corporation in Los Angeles, and their union, the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, that their dues not be used for political purposes. Their request went unheeded.

With the help of the National Right to Work Legal Defense and Education Foundation - a non- profit organization established to render legal aid to workers who are suffering legal injustice as a result of employment discrimination under compulsory union membership arrangements - the workers took on the might of the union officialdom and the company. The workers and the Fondation decided to take the case to the Federal courts. Up to this time such actions were held to be exclusively in the realm of the National Labor Relations Board (an administrative agency).

A lower court refused to hear the case ruling that it was under the jurisdiction of the NLRB. The employees appealed that decision, and that appeal resulted in a reversal of the lower court ruling. The Ninth Federal Circuit Court of Appeals in that June 3 decision instructed the lower court to hear the case.

Now, many employees all over the country can go directly into court to have their cases heard. At last union bosses will be forced to defend in court their practice of using compulsory union dues for politics.

The results of this ruling could be far- reaching. It could mean that no union worker, who must pay dues in order to earn his living, will have to sit back and watch his money used for any candidate contrary to his wishes.

In the 1968 Presidential race, 44% of the union rank-and - file voted against then Vice President Hubert Humphrey. Yet, the union officials expended over $60 - million in an attempt to elect Humphrey. This is a practice that should never have been allowed in the first place. Perhaps, now it will finally come to a halt.

In the ruling on the Seay case, the Court held:

"The diversion of the employees' money from use for the purposes for which it was exacted damages them doubly. Its utilization to support candidates and causes the plaintiffs oppose renders them captive to the ideas, associations and causes espoused by others. At the same time it depletes their own funds and resources to the extent of the expropriation and renders them unable by these amounts to express their own convictions, their own ideas and support their own causes."

This case is not completed by any means, but it is, as I stated at the outset, a major breakthrough.

THE WAR THAT BEGAT WARS

The Franco- Prussian War began 100 years ago on Wednesday (July 15).

The two great wars of this century had their origins in a conflict which began 100 years ago. Few Americans remember the Franco- Prussian War of 1870-1871, but it was to have a profound effect on their lives. During the summer of 1870 the kingdom of Prussia totally destroyed the military power of Imperial France-- paving the way for the creation of an aggressive, united Germany, a France lusting for revenge-- and ultimately World Wars I and II.

Like much of Europe's troubles, the war grew out of the long- smoldering antagonism between France and Germany. But the immediate cause was one of those dynastic struggles so difficult for schoolboys to recall. In June 1870, the vacant throne of Spain was offered to Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern, a member of the ruling family of Prussia. The French emperor, Louis Napoleon-- a nephew of Napoleon Bonaparte and a poor imitation -- objected, saying this would lead to Prussian encirclement of France.

The prince withdrew voluntarily, but the blustering French emperor demanded that King Wilhelm I of Prussia guarantee that the candidature of his cousin would not be revived. Seizing the opportunity that a war with France would provide to unite the smaller German states behind Prussia, Otto von Bismarck adroitly manipulated the king's reply so it appeared to the French as a national insult. War followed on July 15.

The conflict was welcomed by both sides. Emile Ollivier, leader of the peace party in the French Senate, said he accepted it with "a light heart." German troops wearing Prussian blue uniforms and spiked helmets chanted "Nach Paris!" (On to Paris) as they were mobilized. The military experts expected the French to make short work of the Prussians and their allies from other German states. Seasoned by 30 years of continuous fighting in Africa, Mexico and Asia as well as on the Continent, the French army was consideredthe best in the world.

But the Prussians had been quietly preparing for modern war. Under the command of Count Helmuth von Moltke, the general staff had studied Gen. William T. Sherman's brilliant use of railroads in the American Civil War. And they had equipped the army with Alfred Krupp's new steel breech- loading cannon.

Within five weeks after the armies first clashed in August, the French army had been destroyed in an early version of the blitzkrieg. Louis Napoleon was captured with a large segment of his forces at Sedan on Sept. 2, 1870. The people of Paris, shocked by the debacle, demanded the abdication of the emperor, and a republic was proclaimed.

From the Paris suburbs, the Prussians rained down shells. During one three- week period, 12,000 shells destroyed 1,400 buildings. Some 20,000 Parisians were made homeless. Finally, on the 113th day of the siege -- Jan. 28, 1871 – all resistance ended. Just two weeks before, King Wilhelm, who had taken up residence at Versailles, was proclaimed Emperor of Germany. Bismarck's dream was complete.

In defeat the French turned on themselves. Republicans were alarmed to find a new French National Assembly elected to write a constitution and sign the peace treaty was under control of the monarchists. Fearing an attempt would be made to restore some form of monarchy, they seized control of Paris and proclaimed communse. In a bloody week of fighting (May 21-28, 1871) more people were killed than in the struggle with the Germans. Government troops shot an estimated 20,000 communards and 7,500 were deported to New Caledonia in the Pacific.

Under the terms of the peace treaty, Germany annexed the French province of Alsace and part of Lorraine, imposed an indemnity of $1 billion and kept troops in France until it was paid. The French feeling about the war was summed up by Leon Gambetta, one of the leaders of the Government of National Defense, who said: "Think of it ever; speak of it never." The seeds for World War I had been planted.

"The Post Office Department, in an age of lunar travel, is encumbered by obsolete facilities, inadequate capital and outdated horse- and - buggy operating practices," observes a publication of the Kentucky Utilities Company. "Efficient or not, it is big business by anyone's standards. Its annual 'sales' come to about $6.3 billion with a budget running somewhere around $8 billion. It employes more than 750,000 people -- about one- fourth of all civilians on the federal payroll."

NEW YORK (AP) — Now is a good time to clean out your worry closet.

The summer doldrums are hard enough to get through without cluttering up your life wih nagging vexations and old anxieties that profit neither your mind nor heart.

Just as you periodically throw away outworn or out-of-date clothing, so you should systematically rid yourself of problems that choke the free expression of your spirit. Some of these leftover worries probably weren't really worth fretting about in the first place.

Here, for example, are some hackneyed worries we've decided to throw out with the rest of the garbage:

Will the penny post card make a comeback?

After women are finally liberated from men, what will they want to be liberated from next?

What will be the dominant color in men's neckties this Christmas?

What good will it do to give the vote to 18-year-olds, if they can't find anything in society worth voting for anyway?

When will someone invent a good new clean fun for people over 40 which won't put weight on them, leave them with a hangover, or keep them up after midnight?

Will alimony never cease?

What did the governor of North Carolina really say to the governor of South Carolina—or did the governor of South Carolina say it to the governor of North Carolina?

How long could two teen-agers actually tie up a telephone line if their parents made no objections and they were permitted o gab on until neither could find a single thing more to say?

If sex novels are to be free of all censorship, how soon will someone find a way to get rich by selling dirty messages on billboards?

It has been days and days since Richard Burton bought Elizabeth Taylor a new yacht or a fresh diamond. Is he going to go all summer without giving her another decent present?

Isn't there some firm you can send a box top to and get back a good $10,000 college education for only 99 cents?

Does the United States have an international policy that anyone can understand, and if so, why is it so difficult to find anyone who admits he can understand it?

When people speak of the population explosion and the litter problem, aren't they actually talking about one and the same thing?

When will it all end?

What Price Glory!

A Lot of 'Hellos'

Since June, 1875, when Alexander Graham Bell rang up Mr. Watson in the next room, and the end of 1969, more than three trillion (3,000,000,000,000) telephone calls have been made in the United States, the Bell System estimates.

Spreading the number out over the past 94 years, that's more than one call for every second that has ticked by – though the bulk of the calls, of course, have been made in recent decades, mostly by teen- agers.

One staggers at the thought of what life might be like today if Watson hadn't answered.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON -- Some of America's most famous gun manufacturers apparently have violated the law in their campaign to unseat Sen. Joseph Tydings, D- Md., the champion of gun controls.

The firearms firms donated almost $3,000 in prizes to a raffle whose advertised purpose was to "Help Defeat Senator Tydings." The Corrupt Practices Act bars corporate gifts "in connection with any (federal) election." The criminal penalties range up to a $10,000 fine and two years in jail.

The anti- Tydings raffle was promoted by a gun lobby group called FAIR (Firearms and Individual Rights), which mailed out advertisements in volation of another federal law. A confidential ruling by the Post Office says the mailing "clearly violates the provisions of the postal lottery law. We are referring the matter to the Chief Postal Inspector for appropriate attention."

FAIR is based in North Hollywood, Calif., a long way from Tydings's home state of Maryland. The drawing was held at the Culver City, Calif., Gun Show, a two- day event which had the blessing of Gov. Ronald Reagan and Sen. George Murphy, both California Republicans.

The raffle tickets brought in $876, which was then hustled across the country to Maryland to the "Citizens Against Tydings" organization.

GUN LOBBYIST'S CONFESSION

FAIR director Frank Barnyak was bluntly honest about the raffle. "The leaders of industry donated these raffle prizes," he said. Asked whether they knew it was for an anti-Tydings raffle, he said: "Sure. We sent them literature."

He reached some of the manufacturers through their California outlets and other at their national headquarters, he said. He mentioned Browning as one firm that "came in with both feet solid."

Browning, which gave a .22 rifle worth $60 and joined a dealer in contributing a $435 shotgun, denied any knowledge that the raffle proceeds would be used to defeat Tydings. H.G. Williams, the company's executive vice president, said from Ogden, Utah, that he was "upset" about the incident and that he understood the raffle money would be used to fight gun laws.

Weatherby, Inc., which donated a $330 Mark V rifle, had a better understanding of the raffle's purpose. Roy Weatherby, the company's bluff president, said he thought Barnyak "may have mentioned" to him that the raffle was to defeat Tydings. Weatherby made no bones about his dislike for the Maryland Senator.

Frank Pachmayr, owner of the Pachmayr Gun Shop, gave a $50 custom pistol case and some recoil pads. He conceded after much hedging that he knew the raffle was to fight members of Congress "who are trying to put bad laws through." One of them, he acknowledged was Tydings.

At least two listed donors, Winchester and Remington, denied making any donations – despite Barnyak's insistence that he received rifles from both companies for the raffle.

A life membership in the National Rifle Association was donated, according to Barnyak, by NRA clubs and not by the national headquarters.

It will be interesting to see whether the Justice Department will be as quick to act against corporations taht made donations to oppose a Democrat as it has been to indict corporations that made contributions to help Democrats.

CUTTING OFF EARS

The FBI has learned from undercover sources that a black extremist group, which calls itself the True Black Family, requires recruits to bring in two white ears as the grisly price of membership.

The FBI has received a report that at least one victim, a 16-year- old white hitchhiker in Michigan, was slain by True Black Family believers. The body was found with no ears.

Footnote: There is speculations that the black extremists, because of their pro-Hanoi sympathies, are retaliating against the practice of a few GIs who have shorn the ears off Viet Cong corpses in Vietnam as ghoulish souveniers. The FBI's investigation, however, has uncovered no link between the ear collections in Vietnam and Michigan.

NIXON SETTLES FEUD

President Nixon had to step in personally to settle a feud between the Treasury's Customs Bureau and Justice's Narcotics Bureau over which agency should chase down drug smugglers.

Sometimes the two agencies seemed to spend more time squabbling over narcotics than hunting for the smugglers. Meanwhile, the drug menace has grown alarmingly in the United States.

The President fired off a directive giving the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, as it is known formally, the primary jurisdiction over narcotics.

"A difference of opinion has existed between the Justice and Treasury Departments as to the responsibility for dealing with the international traffic in narcotics," said the private directive.

"BNDD should be designated the agency to control the narcotics area. Customs should support BNDD's efforst to reduce and eliminate the flow of narcotics into the United States, and its intelligence network should be used to assist in the over- all effort."

The local newspaper does a great deal of selling local merchants in the news and feature stories.

Information on new foods, styles, household appliances, real estate developments, and new automobiles is carried as news.

Nearly every community newspaper constantly, and in many ways, publicizes the advantages of the local trade center. Even stories about recreational and cultural facilities in the community have an indirect effect on retail sales.

Of course, general selling done in the news columns is not sufficient to assure the use of a particular store by the consumer seeking benefits of a new or better product.

A news story may come from the local home demonstration agent, or, it may originate with the staff of the newspaper. It may deal with a new frozen food or it may be a picture story on the latest beach equipment at local swimming places.

Such stories are bonafide news. They deal with changes in tastes and customs. They anticipate public demand and to a great extent broaden demand for certain goods.

The stories pre- sell. But they do not pre- sell a particular brand or a particular store. Although they are an aid to active advertisers, they cannot and should not bring about final sales.

The alert local merchant makes use of the information included in special sections and special stories of his newspaper by using related advertising. When new trends are started it is advertising which finally determines which merchant will profit from changing demands.

BUSINESS AND LABOR HELP UNDERPRIVILEGED YOUTH

In the Watts area of Los Angeles, personal enterprises and labor unions working together have given practical training to high school students to prepare them for work in the construction industry. The project was sponsored by the Young Home Builders Council, composed of 500 local housing industry executives.

For 16 consecutive Saturdays, 20 Watts high- school pupils worked to renovate a dilapidated house. First they cleaned out refuse, hauling away six truckloads. Then they rebuilt the garage, installed new electrical, plumbing and heating systems, and shored up the floor. The young men even landscaped the yard.

Local building supply firms donated the materials for the renovation. The young men received technical advice from journeymen workers belonging to the building trades unions. A savings and loan firm financed the renovation and agreed to donate any profit from the sale of the house to future projects of the same kind.

The success of the project can be measured in several ways. The renovated house is now a showplace, attractng many buyers willing to pay the $17,000 asking price. Several of the students who took part in the program are entering apprenticeship programs this summer. Two more similar projects are already being planned for next year.

John Konweiser, one of the homebuilding executives who conceived the project, pointed out that earlier attempts to interest poverty- area youth in the construction industry through lectures in high schools had failed. But permitting the young men to work on an actual building project was a great success. The project is one more excellent example of the way personal enterprise fights unemployment and poverty. HLH

DOES ANYONE CARE? American War Prisoners in Hanoi's Bamboo Cages Forgotten Amid Uproar Over South Vietnam Tiger Pens.

New York: – Right. Those tiger cages in the Poulo Condor (Con Son) prison are rotten. Their guards are sadistic. The torture is white heat hell and monkey- sized cells are not for humans. Right.

But where amid the outcry is there a strong voice sobbing for the American prisoners of war held by the government in North Vietnam, caged by the underground Communist cadres in Laos and imprisoned by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam?

There is a voice, scarcely heard amid the din of those who always are horrified by Saigon's depredations and never once take Hanoi as a personal insult.

The voice is that of Ross Perot, the Dallas computer genius whom the public recalls mostly as the man with the magic electronic touch who lost over $100 million daily for over a week last May.

I talked with Mr. Perot the other day shortly after he had used the trans- continental telephone to urge his South Vietnamese friends to clean up Con Son.

"Over 1,500 American prisoners of war are rotting in North Vietnam, Laos and South Vietnam," said Perot who has flown the world, knocked on all doors, beseeched all diplomats including the utterly scrutable Oriental envoys from Hanoi now in Paris, Stockholm and once in Cambodia.

"These men are kept in bomboo cages, caves, holes, chained to trees and held in solitary confinement. Some of these men have been prisoners longer than any otherprisoner of war in our nation's history."

There are scores of diplomats who know these grimnesses. There Are Americans who have been in Hanoi (they shuttle in regularly) and who know or should have known of the caged Americans.

Like the 21 protesting senators, they bleed over the tiger cages -- though some Arkansas prisons are well up in that dark league. Yet they will not antagonize Hanoi with a single harsh work, or even appeal for the Americans' freedom, or even a quiet demand for the list of prisoners' names so young women will know if they are wives or widows and kids will know if they have a dad.

"The North Vientamese have very little interest in the prisoners of war," Perot continued. "They will agree that upon completion of interrogation, a prisoner of war loses all military significance and becomes a burden to his captor, using food, facilities and guards.

"As for food, the American prisoners live on a diet of fish heads, pumpkin stew and pig fat. I had this diet prepared for a number of newsmen. No one sampled it. You would have to be starving to eat it."

Yet some of the American soldiers, marines and Airmen have been in the bamboo cages for more than six years. Is a bamboo cage more safe a haven, more comfortable a prison than a concrete tiger's den?

Yet nowhere but in the U.S. is a voice or two raised in their behalf. One of those voices is that of the longshoremen's leader, Johnny Bov , tough but sofetoned, icy ut run through with the comp. ion of a man who can't stan being shackled himself.

Since April 13, "Jo...ny," executive vice president of the 110,000- member International Longshoremen's Assn. (AFL-CIO) has asked the Soviet government at least to get the list of prisoners' names from its ally, North Vietnam. Never has Mr. Bowers raised a "hard hat" issue in his attempted dialogue. On that day he wrote to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, offering to end the union's boycott of Soviet ships in Atlantic and Gulf Coast and Great Lake ports if the USSR would help.

Johnny Bowers is a bargainer. His men, he said, would unload one Soviet freighter or luxury liner for every five American prisoners of war which the Russians could convince Hanoi to release. But all "Johnny" got was a loud silence.

However, not so silent has the Soviet press and radio been on the "tiger cages." And Hanoi's daily Nhan Dan has excorciated the Con Son prisons. And they say that American congressmen have't seen anything yet in South Vietnam. Now would be the time for these congressmen to petition Hanoi – on strictly a humanitarian, not political basis – for the chance to see Hanoi's prisons, pens and cells used for Americans and their own political prisoners.

In effect, this is what Ross Perot has been urging during his chartered flights across the world.

"The North Vietnamese consider the 1,500 prisoners of war unimportant," Perot related to me. "In one conversation they said, 'Why all this fuss over just 1,500 men?These prisoners are unimportant.' I tried to explain to them that in our country every life is precious, and that 200 million Americans can become deeply aroused over 1,500 helpless men being starved, tortured and beaten."

The North Vientamese replied that they did not believe Mr. Perot.

"Your nation has lost over 40,000 men in this war," they told Perot. "Yet, after years of war, most of the American people have not become aroused in any way, either for or against the war. Why should we believe that your people care about just 1,500 prisoners?"

In this the enemy will be proven right if the horror billowing up over the tiger cages is not matched by an outcry for the well- being of Americans in bamboo cages.

Height is a Problem for Boy Seven Feet Tall and Still Growing. . .

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from "Ugly Duckling" inspired me to write. As a grade schooler I was overweight and had a million freckles. Homely would have been a kind description. Like "Ugly Duckling," I, too, had a saint of a teacher. She sensed I was miserable and asked me to stay after school so we could talk. She told me to stop thinking of freckles as disfiguring because many people considered them wholesome, if not downright attractive. She encouraged me to lose weight. As for the boys who made cruel remarks, she said they were just trying to get my attention. "Smile and be pleasant," she advised. "Soon they'll be smiling back."

I took her advice and I will never be able to repay her. She changed my life. The teacher's name was Miss Thelma Ryan. Today she is known as Mrs. Richard Nixon. -- C.L. of Whittier

Dear C.L.: Many thanks for a heartwarming letter. It was good of you to share your story.

Dear Ann Landers: I live in Monterey and like Pericles of old, I must defend my city when it is attacked from within. I refer to the woman who signed her letter, "It Happend In Monterey." A more appropriate signature would have been, "It DIDN'T Happen In Monterey."

She described her marriage as "very satisfactory -- without sex." She and her husband enjoy gin rummy and TV.

Lest your readers think everyone in Monterey lives like that, let me assure you that Monterey is the Peyton Place of America -- the Love Mecca of the Universe. A personal poll of our country club crowd revealed 8 out of 10 couples don't own a deck of cards and watch little or no TV. The weather is glorious and conducive to love making, both indoors and out. So, please, Ann, print the truth about Monterey and help restore its good name. -- Eros Who Wants Equal Time

Dear Eros: Here's your equal time and now a word from your sponsor: the views represented in the above letter are not necessarily those of your newspaper, the Monterey Chamber of Commerce or this columnist.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17- year-old boy who is normal in every way -- but still I'm a freak. My problem is that I am nearly seven feet tall and still growing. My mother is 6'4" and my dad is 6'11". When the three of us go anywhere together you'd think the circus was in town. People gawk and make rude remarks. I sometimes wonder if they think we are blind and deaf. A normal person can't imagine what it's like to be turned down by driver education because of being too large for the training car. I wonder how they would like it if their friends' Parents were afraid to let them sit down in the living room for fear of breaking the furniture.

A few months ago I started to play hockey on our school team. I was sitting on the bench and a cute chick came over. When I stood up, she gasped "Oh no!" THIS IS the story of my life.

What's the solution? -- Mount Everest

Dear M.E.: Walk tall, fella. Somewhere there's a lovely tall, tall female who shares your problem. She'll love every inch of you.

Do you feel ill at ease ... out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35 cents in coin and a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope.

One Doctor's Personal Approach To New York's New Abortion Law

EDITORS NOTE: On July 1, when the country's most liberal abortion law — that of New York — took effect, a New York City gynecologist performed 10 abortions without cost in his apartment-office. The doctor, who asked to remain anonymous, worked within the new law which permits any abortion by a licensed physician up to the 24th week of pregnancy. However, he violated city health department guidelines which the city was considering adopting into law. The guidelines permit out-of-hospital abortions only when there is extensive equipment including a blood bank for transfusions and apparatus for abdominal surgery, and when an anesthesiologist is present. The doctor had none of these, maintaining they are unnecessary for safe abortions. He said he planned to set up an abortion clinic where abortions would be done for $50 each.

AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The girl, heavyset, dark hair, steel rimmed glasses, descended the staircase, a broad smile on her face. A dozen girls, in dungarees or dresses, shouted a greeting and broke into applause.

"How do you feel, Doris?"

"Did it hurt?"

"You look great."

"Hey, let her sit down!"

Someone got up from one of the few chairs in the tiny West Side living room, and Doris eased herself down.

"I feel wonderful," she said, "but I don't think I'm quite ready to run around the block . . ."

The doorbell rang. The doctor's wife went out and returned with two more girls. "This is Cathy and this is Sue," she told the group. "They just came from Ohio. Cathy wants the abortion."

"Don't worry," Doris counselled. "I was the first and I just got finished. It wasn't bad at all."

The doctor, a tall slim man in his early 30s, entered the room. He nodded to the girls, smiled and shuffled a group of index cards. He looked at the names, and reread the medical histories he had taken the night before when he first met the girls in an informal gathering. Among them were:

Cathy B. — a 20-year-old rape victim from Toledo, Ohio, whose aunt had referred her to the doctor through the Women's Abortion Project, a coalition of women's liberation groups;

Marsha L. — a 20-year-old Chicago college student, who had been referred to New York by a women's liberation group after she could only find an illegal abortion for $500 near home;

Eleanor S. — a 22-year-old from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., who called women's lib groups rather than spend $800 for an illegal abortion;

Nancy M. — a 25-year-old practical nurse in a New York City hospital who knows the doctor;

Susan P. — an 18-year-old who came with her boyfriend;

Connie L. — a 23-year-old from Montreal who came with her doctor husband;

Linda C. — a 25-year-old New York City school teacher who gave up an abortion appointment at a city hospital for fear that the three-week wait would put her past the danger time.

"I think I answered all your questions last night," the doctor told the group. "But if there are still any you can either ask them now or when you come upstairs. Any questions?"

"Okay then," he said when no one responded. "I think Linda is next."

A tall, lithe blond stood up, and silently followed the doctor upstairs. They entered a small room with an adjoining bathroom. Linda was introduced to the nurse and to a psychologist who runs a Los Angeles abortion clinic which claims to have done 5,000 successful abortions for $30 each.

Linda was instructed to undress, put on a white disposable surgical gown, and to sit down on the examination table. The nurse then took her blood pressure, and the doctor checked her heart, lungs and breasts, and gave her a pelvic examination.

"The procedure is very simple," the doctor explained. "We check the circulatory system for abnormality since the patient's blood pressure will jump considerably for a short time.

"Then we examine the uterus to make sure it's in normal position, and to determine whether the woman is indeed pregnant. By inserting a blunt curette before we start, we can feel the uterine walls, and there'll be no mistake."

"Our method of vacuum aspiration," the doctor continued, was developed in China in 1958, has been used in Eastern Europe for several years, and is only now becoming popular in the United States."

As he spoke he held up the abortion apparatus: a foot-long plastic tube about the width of a plastic straw, attached to a plastic hose, which in turn was attached to a vacuum instrument not much larger than a standard radio.

He then examined Linda's uterus, and reached for the plastic tubes.

"The thin tube goes into the uterus," he said, "and then the suction removes the fetal tissue. Using this method rather than the standard D. and C. (scraping) we almost eliminate any chance of infection, we reduce the pain, and we cut down the time from 15 or 20 minutes to one to three minutes. When I'm through I'll give her some antibiotics just to make sure, and she'll be all right after a brief rest."

The doctor worked as he talked and occasionally Linda winced.

"It hurts a little," she said, "but a dentist's drill would be worse. The doctor warned me that mine would be more painful than some of the others because I'm 12 or 13 weeks pregnant, and it takes longer to do.

"I know I could have had local anesthetic, but as the doctor told us yesterday we're better off with a short slight pain than with hours of discomfort as an anesthetic wears off."

"How do you feel Linda?" the doctor asked.

"A little weak, I guess. I was nervous. Are you finished?"

"All finished. You can get up if you like."

Supported by the doctor and the nurse, Linda sat up and moved off the table. She disappeared into the bathroom, emerging shortly in her own clothes.

"Why don't you go lie down in the other room," the doctor suggested. "You could probably do with some sleep."

"I'll lie down but I don't think I can sleep. I don't know how to thank you. I feel wonderful."

"There's one way you can thank me if you're up to it. A little later maybe you could come in and sit with one of the girls. It helps to have moral support."

"I think I'd rather do that than rest," Linda said. "I'm going downstairs to talk to the girls."

Just think - an apron for use in the kitchen will soon be available on a roller, completely disposable, like paper towels.

You may discover pop-up straws in individual sized cartons of drinks like milk and juice.

For rooms in your house which need extra warmth (baby's room, den, etc.) a flat panel moulding strip which can be secured to wall or window will provide heat and architectural interest as well.

Where are these new products coming from? The individual inventor is contributing in large measure each year with new ideas an innovations. So much so in fact, that the U. S. Patent Office has granted over four million patents to inventive Americans and many more thousands are awarded annually.

"Although many inventions are introduced by research laboratories of large corporations, the individual inventor plays a key role in successful product development," says Lawrence Peska, vice president of The Raymond Lee Organization of New York. The company is an invention development firm which commercializes and introduces new inventions and product ideas to industry.

The Lee Organization offers six types of inventions which are prime for today's consumer market:

-- New games for adults and children.

-- Car improvements and safety ideas.

-- Home work-savers for the housewife.

-- Hand-tool innovations and do-it-yourself items.

-- Recreation and hobby ideas.

-- Protection devices for home, car or individual.

The company has prepared a brochure entitled, "How To Develop and Market Your Invention" which explains the steps necessary to commercialize your invention. It is available free of charge. For a copy, write:

Seaver Beats The Heat

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Seaver beat the New York heat by turning it on San Francisco, but Jim Merritt wilted in Cincinnati's new hothouse when St. Louis finally turned on the steam.

Seaver, flayed for three early runs in muggy Shea Stadium, held the Giants to one hit over the final seven innings and beat them 5-3 Monday night for his 15th victory of the season.

Merritt, the only other 15game winner in the majors, surrendered six runs and eight hits in the 31-3 innings he lasted at equally-muggy Riverfront Stadium in Cincinnati as the Cardinals broke an eight-game losing streak by roasting the Reds 169.

Philadelphia bombed Los Angeles 10-3 in the only other National League game while, in American League play, Minnesota trimmed Baltimore 5-2 and the New York Yankees downed California 5-2 in 10 innings.

Seaver fell behind 3-0 before Joe Foy's two-run homer in the second inning and a solo blast by Cleon Jones in the fourth pulled the Mets even. Then, he scored the go-ahead run on Ken Singletown's fifth inning single off 14-game winner Gaylord Perry and throttled San Francisco the rest of the way.

"I pitched well with what I had," said the Met ace, who finished with a six-hitter and struck out six. "It was a tough night, muggy and hot, and I really had to struggle."

"I was just plain lousy," muttered Merritt after his fourth-inning knockout at the hot hands of the previously ice-cold Cards.

Richie Allen blasted his 22th and 29th homers, driving in three runs; Mike Shannon delivered four more with a basesloaded double and a single, and Vic Davalillo lashed three doubles, good for two RBI, as the Cardinals erupted for 19 hits—their high for the season.

St. Louis shrugged off a fiverun Cincinnati burst—capped by Johnny Bench's 34th homer—in the second inning on the way to only its third victory in 20 games. Reliver Chuck Taylor blanked the Reds from the third inning until the ninth, when Bernie Carbo hit a three-run homer, to earn he victory.

Tony Taylor, Deron Johnson and Larry Hisle clubbed homers and Byron Browne knocked in three runs with a double and single, leading the resurgent Phillies past Los Angeles for their 10th victory in 12 starts.

The Twins earned a split of their four-game summit series with Baltimore and increased their AL West division lead over California to six lengths as rookie Bert Blyleven picked up his fifth victory with help from bullpen standby Ron Perranoski.

Jim Holt and George Mitterwald homered for the Twins and Perranoski, making his 42nd appearance of year, picked up his 25th save by tossing three scoreless innings.

State Pairings

Baseball action at its best will be on display Thursday at VFW stadium as the Jr. Babe Ruth state baseball tournament gets underway with five teams in the running for the title.

Mike Shain, tournament director, noted that boys from 13 to 15 years old make up the teams that will be shooting for the sectionals at Booneville.

First round action in the double elimination affair gets underway Thursday at 7 p.m. with Ozark and Houston set to battle in the opener that finds Jefferson City matched against Sikeston at 9 p.m.

Joplin will meet the winner of the Ozark-Houston battle at 7 p.m. Friday while the losers of Thursday's games battle at 9 p.m.

Ozark's Sr. Babe Ruth team won the Sr. state tournament at Houston over the weekend while Sikeston finished third behind Clay- Platt of Kansas City. This age group is 16-18.

In the City's Fast Pitch Softball League last night, Light and Water blanked Cooney Impliment 11-0. Earl Watson collected the shut out victory for Light and Water while Ray Lasters was handed the loss.

Aces, Richland Win Openers

Sikeston's 15th Annual Little League Tournament for 9 and 10 year olds got under way last night with two games opening the twelve team event. Richland and the Sikeston Aces advanced through the opening round with victories. Richland picked up a 6-3 decision from Bertrand in the opening game, while the Sikeston Aces blasted Portageville 12-2 in the night capper.

Mondy smashed a lead off home run in the second inning and held the Bertrand line-up to a mere two hits in anchoring Richland's 6-3 win. Bertrand picked up the first run and held the lead at 1-0 until Mondy's hit tied the score.

Two runs in top of the fourth from a walk, an error, and a double from Dennis handed Richland the lead which was narrowed in the bottom half with a single score by Bertrand. Richland ended the games scoring with three runs in the last inning that moved the score into its final 6-3 position.

Behind the three hit pitching of McAfee and the 11 hit slugging of the Aces, Sikeston picked up a 12-2, four inning win. The ten run rule was put in affect last night as the Sikeston line up finished the game with a run in the bottom of the fourth that moved the score into its 12-2, 10 run difference.

Five of the Aces picked up two hits each for Sikeston with Byrd leading the quintet with two doubles. The first four batters for Sikeston, Bruner, Greer, McCauley, and Byrd accounted for six hits and nine of the teams runs.

The middle two innings, the second and third, proved fatal to Portageville as the Aces put five runs across in each of the innings. Portageville's only runs came in the top of the fourth, where they collected all of their hits and runs.

Fisher, Roach, and Johnson connected for singles in the fourth to anchor the two run inning for Portageville. Stepps was the loosing pitcher while the victory went to McAfee.

Tonight two more games are scheduled at Farris Field, with Charleston taking on New Madrid in the 7:00 opener, and Dexter clashes with Illmo-Scott City at 9:00 in the night cap.

Cards Explode

CINCINNATI (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals pitcher Chuck Taylor finally was scored upon by the Cincinnati Reds Monday, but it was not enough.

The Card righthander had not allowed a run for 23 innings until the Reds scored three runs off him in the ninth inning. However, the Cards had 16 runs, and the Reds only had 9.

"I got a little tired in the ninth inning," said Taylor. "I thought I made a good pitch to Carbo, a low slider and he hit it out. The heat didn't bother me. I was trying to keep the ball away from those big guys because if you make a mistake against any of them they hit the ball out on you."

Taylor might have become a little tired, but it didn't matter because he had the batting support of Mike Shannon, who knocked in four runs with a double and a single, and Richie Allen, who drove in three runs with two homers.

Allen said he thought the Cards figured to bust out of their eight game losing streak.

"I figured we were due to win one," he said. "We're in one of those ruts that all teams get in once in a while. I hope this is what it takes to get us started."

Although he did have a good night at the plate, Allen had some unkind words for the Reds' new stadium.

"I'm not complaining," he said, "but this stadium is built for football, not baseball. There's no ventilation on it. But we have to play on it like everybody else."

St. Louis manager BD Schoendienst said he was pleased with his team's victory and hopes it could break their slump.

"I was tickled to death that we scored a lot of runs," he said. "I don't care how many runs we score. Taylor is a fine pitcher. He had excellent control."

The Reds blasted two home runs, a two run hot by Johnny Bench in the second inning, his 34th, and a three run shot by Bernie Carbo in the ninth, his 16th. It was not enough, though as the Cards scored in seven of the nine innings, blasting five Cincinnati pitchers for 19 hits.

Reds manager Sparky Anderson said, "when we lose we really lose. Merritt simply didn't have anything but I'm not worried. We have two good a ball club.

Stars Name Captains

CHICAGO (AP) — The College All-Stars will not be lacking in leadership when they take on the Kansas City Chiefs Friday night in the midsummer football classic in Soldier Field.

Massive Mike McCoy of Notre Dame will captain the defensive unit and running back Bob Anderson will lead the offense.

The two were selected by their teammates whose decision was applauded by Coach Otto Graham by saying "I can't think of two men more deserving of the honor."

McCoy, who will toil for Green Bay if and when the players and owners in the National Football League settle their contract differences, has already knocked two of his teammates from the big game.

McCoy fell on running back Larry Stegent of Texas A&M in a tackling drill and bumped defensive lineman Phil Olson of Utah State in a monkey roll drill. Both suffered knee injuries and will miss the All-Star show.

Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian called McCoy "the greatest defensive tackle I've coached and the hardest working big man I've ever coached." The 6-foot-5, 285-pounder from Erie, Pa., is surprisingly quick despite his ponderous proportions.

Anderson was a quarterback at Colorado in 1968 and played that position for the first two games of the 1969 season before switching to running back.

He totaled 22 touchdowns last season and became the first Big Eight back in history to pass the 5,000-yard mark in career total offense with 5,017 yards.

The All-Stars went through an afternoon workout Monday and will make their only public appearance prior to the game at the annual All-Star luncheon today.

Lombardi Hospitalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington Redskins football Coach Vince Lombardi was said to be resting comfortably at Georgetown University hospital today after undergoing surgery for the second time in a month.

Hospital and team officials would not disclose the nature of the operation Monday, performed only hours after Lombardi was admitted for what was termed a routine checkup.

Lombardi, 57, had been recuperating from a June 27 operation in which a tumor and two- foot section of his colon were removed. The tumor was reported as non- malignant.

Chiefs Will Have No Alibies

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP)—Coach Hank Stram emphasized today that the Kansas City Chiefs will have no alibies IF they lose to the College All-Stars in Chicago Friday night.

In other words, if they lose—and Stram doesn't think for a second the Chiefs will lose — the fact that Kansas City had only six days to prepare for the game won't be an excuse.

"We're never going to insulate ourselves with a reason to fail," Stram said. "We want to win the game.

"This is the same approach we take for all of our preseason games. We want to win, look at a lot of people and improve artistically."

The Chiefs' veerans sarted workouts last Saturday after a lengthy delay because of a contract dispute stalemate involving the National Football League Players Association and the 26 club owners. Kansas City got permission to practice and play the All-Stars and then disband if the dispute continues.

Stram stepped up the practice tempo Monday when the Chiefs romped through three drills. It was the first time in the Chiefs' history they worked out three times in one day. Two practices were scheduled today.

One of the bright notes of the practice sessions so far has been the running of deceptive Mike Garrett, a runninr back who is pondering pursuit of a major league baseball career after this pro football season, his fifth.

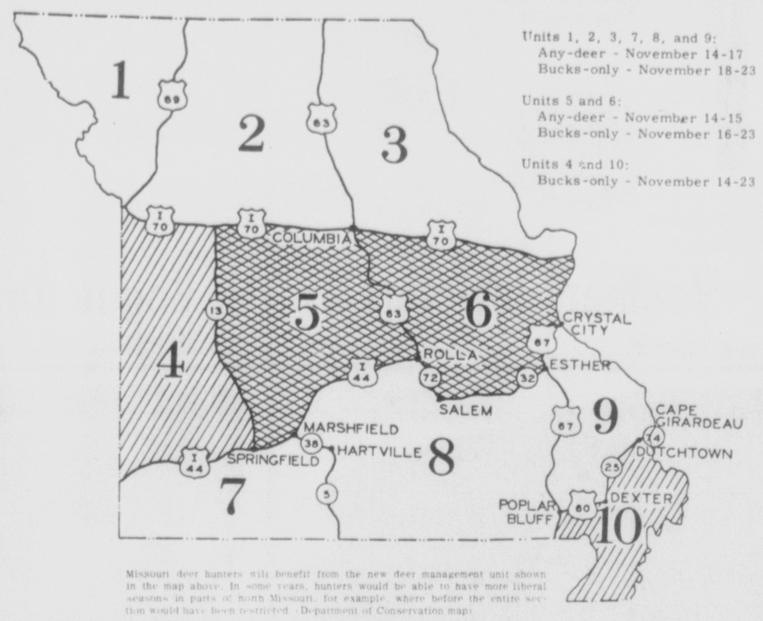

Garret has been turning in sparkling runs from Stram's vaunted I-formation. The former Southern California ace, who has weighed as much as 200 pounds in previous seasons, now weighs only 181 and said he lost weight to bolster his quickness.

Garrett was the club's No. 1 ground gainer and pass receiver in 1969. He rushed for 732 yards and hauled in 43 passes for another 432 yards.

This college community of 9,000, located 20 miles norheast of Kansas City, looks like a boom town with the world champion Chiefs around.

Traffic was clogged up on most of the narrow streets leading to William Jewell College both Sunday and Monday. There was no available parking space, and the practice field was ringed by 2,000 or 3,000 spectators much of the time.

No Sign of Settlement

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League exhibition season is only 11 days away and there is no sign that either the club owners or the Players Association is ready to give in the stalemated pension dispute.

The owners' negotiating committee and the association representatives met under the watchful eye of federal mediators four hours Monday. If there was any progress it wasn't evident on the grim faces of the participants.

They'll start their fifth day of talks in the offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service today at 2 p.m. The morning will be spent with subcommittees trying to unravel the technical problems involved.

While the negotiators work behind closed doors, the exhibition season is approaching doom The Cleveland Browns are scheduled to meet the Los Angeles Rams in Los Angeles Aug. 7. Nine games are slated for Aug. 8.

The owners have a few choices in the matter. They can cancel the games if the dispute over pensions and other fringe benefits isn't resolved. Or they can play the games with rookies and free agents. They have a third choice—open the doors of their training camps and see how many veterans will defy the association and report.

As matters now stand the association has directed its players to stay away from camp until an agreement is reached. The owners say the camps are closed to veterans until the contract is settled.

The best bet, if the negotiators don't step up their pace or come to some agreement — or final disagreement—is that the owners will challenge the association's strength by opening up their camps to veterans, and see how many defy the NFLPA.

The association and the owners are $8 million apart on a four year pension package. The owners have offered $18 million and the players are holding out for $26 million. Breaking it down to simple terms, the argument is over how much retirement pay Joe Namath, Johnny Unitas, Joe Kapp, John Mackey and the rest of the 1,300 players will get in the year 2,000.

Mr. C. L. Blanton
Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Mr. Blanton:

As active members of Henry Meldrum Post 114, American Legion, Sikeston, Missouri, whose participation in Little League Sponsorship, boys State of Missouri, and the American Legion Baseball program speaks for itself our concern for the younger generation in our city. We are aware of the needs of these young people because most of us are parents of teenage children.

We believe young people should have recreation facilities where they can enjoy themselves, however we can see no reason for having a "Rock Festival" come to our area when its intent and purpose do not coincide with the aims set forth by Boys State and the physical fitness program of baseball which we endorse.

We are concerned with the health hazard of a gathering of this size could create, as well as the environment of our young people might be subjected to by attendance, even as by- standers just listening to the music (?).

We are sure you are aware of the covenant we make as members of the American Legion, since you are a member of our organization. One of the promises it contains is "To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to our community, state, and nation." Therefore we feel it is our duty to voice our disapproval of the "Rock Festival" via your newspaper, and to encourage other civic groups in the Sikeston area to join us.

Respectfully yours,
Pete Britt
Commander
American Legion Post 114
Sikeston, Missouri

7-24-70

Dear Mr. Blanton:

I feel that someone from Morehouse, should speak out against the Rock Festival, for what effects Sikeston pretty well effects us also. I believe our young people have enough problems facing them without putting something of this sort in their midst. A good parent watches over their children and trys to protect them from harm so I believe a good community should do the same.

I hope and pray that everything possible will be done to keep this Festival from taking place.

Sincerely
Mrs. Carl Launius
Morehouse, Mo.

Sikeston, Mo.
July 24, 1970

Mr. Blanton,
Dear Sir:

We have lived in the City of Sikeston 40 years, have raised three children, and now they are married and have children.

Not only are we concerned and interested in the future of our own, but also the youth, of our City. We are certainly and strickly against this Rock Festival coming to our City of Sikeston.

We have heard testimonies from people where there has been Rock Festival's held and they say nothing good has ever come from such entertainment, but plenty of shame, heart ach, sorrow that can never be lived down, and has brought black marks against the character of those who stoop low enough to except and participate in such.

God sent judgment up on the cities of Sodom and Garmor because the people of these cities, chose wickedness instead of desiring righteousness, and the Bible teaches us that God is no respect of person, nation as City, and He does not have to continue His love, mercy and grace to our City of Sikeston.

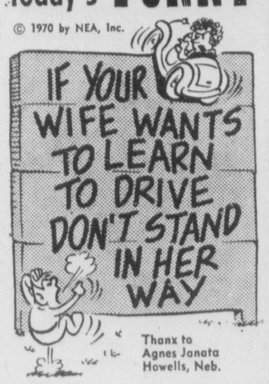

Therefore we feel that it is high time for good, honest upright people to raise their voices against evil and sin, and that Christians take their stand against things that God will not tolorate.

Our youth is of tomorrow and what will our tomorrow be if our youth of today fail to build their lives on anything less then righteousness.

Ecclesiastes: 12:1 Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth,

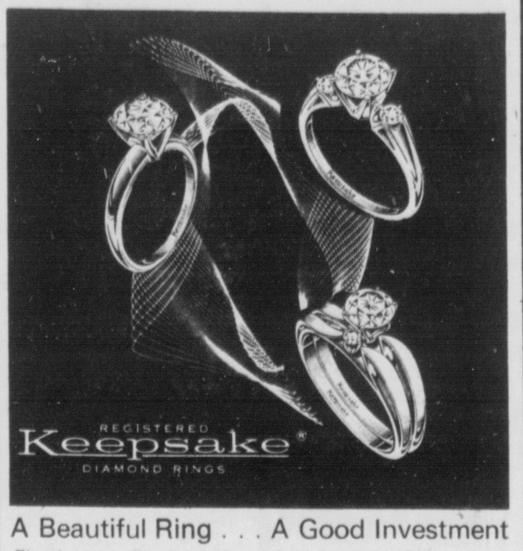

Yours,

Aunt Bea No Longer on 'Mayberry'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is the time of the year when, in preparation for the fall season, the returning shows go in for a face lifting.

A few members of the cast depart and new ones are added. These and other cosmetic changes are done to keep viewer interest from lagging when new shows debut.

Frances Bavier, the last of the original cast from the time Andy Griffith founded the series 10 years ago, departs "Mayberry R.F.D." and is being replaced as housekeeper by Alice Ghostley.

"I'm afraid I'm not going to be a very efficient housekeeper," said Miss Ghostley, who also is a bumbling witch on "Bewitched." She will play star Ken Berry's cousin who retires after 25 years in the WACs.

"Mission: Impossible" undergoes yet another change in its fifth season as it moves to Saturday night, where it originated, and gets a new cast member. Lesley Warren joins the IMF forces as a beautiful agent. In addition, the whole crew is supposed to be more human this year and less mechanically perfect. They may even make a few mistakes.

On "Bracken's World," that hokey drama school is being tossed out and Bracken will appear for the first time in the person of Leslie Nielsen.

The show's first year dwelled on Hollywood's past, but this year promises to be more contemporary.

Walter Brennan is being added to the cast of "To Rome With Love," which moves to 7:3(p.m. Tuesdays. He will play an Iowa farmer who sells his land to live in Italy with his widower son-in-law and granddaughters.

Diahann Carroll gets a new boy friend in "Julia," played by former football player Fred Williamson. Nurse Hannah Yarby, played by Lurene Tuttle, also gets married to Cesar Romero.

Doris Day deserts the farm and moves into an apartment, where her new landlady will be Kaye Ballard.

Nancy Walker joins "Family Affair" as a rather messy, talkative housecleaner.

David Canary departs the cast of "Bonanza" and will be replaced by 15-year-old Mitch Vogel, who was in "The Reivers." On "High Chaparral," Mark Slade leaves the nest and the new young male interest is Rudy Ramos. Both were victims of "aging."

"There were so many stories we couldn't tell because we didn't have young people," said David Dortort, who is executive producer for both shows.

The biggest face-lifting of all is being made on the "Virginian." The show is being retitled "The Men From Shiloh" and will have three rotating leads, similar to "Name of the Game." They will be James Drury, Doug McClure and a newcomer, Lee Majors. Stewart Granger rides in as the new owner of the Shiloh ranch and will appear in all three segments.

Kennett Man Placed on Probation

BLOOMFIELD — Jodie Stratton of Kennett pleaded guilty in Stoddard County circuit court to a felonious assault on a Kennett Negro youth on July 22, 1969, and was sentenced to two years in the department of corrections by Special Circuit Judge Marshall Craig of Sikeston.

Prosecuting Attorney Frank Holder had charged Stratton with injuring David Wheeler, 8, of Kennett with a shotgun wound last July 22, near Stratton's home.

Judge Craig, upon the recommendation of a state board of parole and probation report, placed Stratton on probation report, placed Stratton on probation for two years, ordered the defendant to pay court costs, obey the law, and ordered him to post a $100 parole bond.

Stratton appeared in court with his attorney. Following formal arraignment, Stratton entered his guilty plea to the charge.

In other court action, Judge Craig dismissed two pending charges against two defendants who, are serving time in he federal penitentiary.

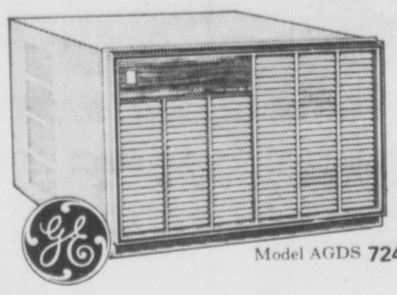

The defendants, Jessie Earl Miller, charged with assault to do great bodily harm, and William Verlin Gross, charged with felonious assault, are both serving sentences in a federal penitentiary in Arkansas, Prosecutor Holder informed the court.

Regular Judge William Billings had been disqualified earlier in the cases.

Sikeston Missouri
July 24th 1970
Dear Editor:

In regard to the rock festival, I would like to inform our officials that we the people of Scott are behind them in big numbers, we don't wan't any part of a group of money hungry people ruining the lives of our young people.

If these thugs are fortunate enough to get anyone of our local Attorneys to try to defend them in a mess like this, I would suggest we get a petition from the Grievence commitee and get it filled out and then let them show cause why they can not be disbared from the practice of law in the State of Missouri, I am willing to do anything to stop this from happening here in Scott County.

We need to be thankful for our colored neighbors, they havent tried anything like this.

Yours very truly
Daniel Byrd

Dear Mr. Blanton:

About this rock festival. I am against it.

This is a nice town and I'de like to see it stay that way.

I'm a mother of two teenagers and would hate to think that they would attend such a place as a rock festival.

No good could ever come of it I'm sure. Theres more I could say about it, I hope my voice along with others, will see this rock festival stoped.

Mrs. Earl Kelton

Mr. Charles Blanton
Daily Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Missouri

Dear Mr. Blanton:

I was very happy to see by Wednesday's paper that our City Officials are concerned about the need for a new swimming pool. Not only is this a place of recretation for our young people, but it is a place of instruction. An average of 150 to 200 persons use the pool seven days a week, eight hours a day. Also, it provides summer employment for several young people.

Ten years ago the Kiwanis Club began their Learn-To-Swim program. Through this program our young people have realized the need for proper water safety. Many of our young people who donated their time as assistant instructors have gone on to become qualified Red Cross Water Safety Instructors. This summer 425 children received swimming instruction. Twenty young people were given part time employment. Of this twenty, four were qualified Water Safety Instructors, the remaining sixteen held either Junior or Senior Life Saving cards. One girl donated several hours working toward a Girl Scout Merit Badge. Several boys have received their Boy Scout Swimming and Life Saving Merit Badges.

In the past three years the Kiwanis Club has sent two boys aand the Optimist Club has sent one boy to the American Red Cross Aquatic School paying their expenses for further water safety training. These boys all returned to Sikeston and gave free lifesaving training to people in this area. Junior and Senior Lifesaving courses have already been given this year with children coming from Bloomfield and East Prairie to take this training. They in turn have found employment in their respective cities as lifeguards. Adult courses have been held at the pool for the past five years.

I agree with your reporter that the pool is in need of repair. However, if you will check with members of the Health Department, you will find the quality of the water is excellent. The pictures taken by your reporter a week ago were made during the swimming lessons and the lifeguards had not been able to do all the clean-up. Dressing rooms and the patio are not used during swimming lessons and these, therefore, were cleaned after lessons and before the pool opened in the afternoon.

I would like to say to the young lady who in her letter to you said the young people of Sikeston "didn't have a decent swimming pool", that a public place is just what the public makes it. It would be well for teenagers and adults to think twice before throwing coke cups, candy wrappers, etc., through out the inside and outside of the pool. There are proper receptacles for these. In this way we might convince the City Officials that we do have pride in our public places and that we can take care of them.

Again I want to say how glad I am that the City Officials are going to provide a new pool and other needed recreational facilities for our young people.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Fred Davis

Armed Forces

BLYTHEVILLE AFB, ARK. — Monday, June 29, marked the 15 anniversary of the acceptance of the first B-52 Stratofortress by the Strategiic Air Command.

On that day in 1955, the first production B-52 was turned over to the 93rd Bomb Wing, Castle AFB, Calif., beginning a long era of strategic deterrence.

This first Stratofortress now has a permanent home in the Nebraska Museum of Aerospace History at Offut AFB, Neb.

Blytheville's entry into the era of the B-52 cam Jan. 9, 1960, when the first Stratofortress arrived here. The aircraft was named "The City of Blytheville", and was a G model.

Less than a month later, the aircraft was shown to the public during a base open house, and 20,000 people turned out to see the new giant bomber.

Col. Ralph C. Jenkins was the 97th Bomb Wing Commander at the time.

The B-52 was designed to replace the B-36 Peacemaker heavy bomber and convert SAC to an all-jet fleet.

There have been eight models of the B-52 constructed and models B through H were eventually put into use. The last one built was in 1962.

On 20 July 1970, in the Special Forces camp at Long Hai, Republic of Vietnam, Captain Kenneth S. Winders was awarded the Silver Star, the nation's third highest award for valor. Captain Winders is from Sikeston, Missouri and attended high school there. Upon graduation he entered the military service and in October 1967 was assigned to the Republic of Vietnam. He has been there since.

Other decorations held by Cpt. Winders are the Combat Infantrymans Badge, Parachutists badge, two Bronze Stars, two Air Medals, the Army Commendation Medal with seven campaign stars, the Vietnamese Cross of Galantry with Silver Star, the Vietnamese Campaign ribbon, and the Vietnamese parachutists Badge.

AWARD OF THE SILVER STAR

TC 439. The following AWARD is announced.

WINDERS, KENNETH S. 486-52-4545 CAPTAIN INFANTRY United States Army, Detachment B-36, Company A, 5th Special Forces Group (Airborne), 1st Special Forces, APO 96240.

Awarded: Silver Star

Date of action: 10 November 1969

Theater: Republic of Vietnam

Authority: By direction of the President, under the provisions of the Act of Congress, approved 9 July 1918.

Reason: For gallantry in action while engaged in military operations involving conflict with an armed hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam: Captain Winders distinguished himself on 10 November 1969 while serving as executive officer during combat operations in Phuoc Long Province. While on a mission to locate and destroy an enemy machine gun emplacement, Captain Winders' company came under heavy enemy small arms, rocket, and mortar fire. As air support was called in, Captain Winders noticed the target machine gun placing heavy fire on the supporting aircraft. Captain Winders immediately began to assault the machine gun position in an attempt to destroy it. Captain Winders exposed himself repeatedly to enemy fire until he was successful in destroying the position. Captain Winders then directed air strikes against the retreating enemy elements. On the second day of the mission, the battalion commander was killed in action and Captain Winders assumed command of the sweep operation that was in progress. Captain Winders' gallantry in action was in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflects great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army.

TVA Power Diverted to New York City

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Electricity will begin streaming north today from the generators of the Tennessee Valley Authority to New York City.

The 150,000 kilowatts to keep New Yorkers' air conditioning units running is being diverted from the power normally supplied by TVA to the Atomic Energy Commission's three uranium enrichment plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn.; Paducah, Ky.; and Portsmouth, Ohio.

The electricity will bail out Consolidated Edison while the New York power company tries to get two of its major generating plants back on the line.

It takes the earth 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4.1 seconds to make one complete revolution on its imaginary axis.

Improvements on Highway 80 Asked

EAST PRAIRIE — Last week a delegation of citizens from East Prairie appeared before the State Highway Commission requesting improvement of an approximate 10- mile long stretch of Missouri, Route 80 from East Prairie southwesterly, connecting with Interstate Route. 55.

L. D. Davis, East Prairie businessman, acted as spokesman for the group. He told the Commission that the community would like the Commission to up- grade Route 80 from East Prairie to I-55 as was done on Route 80 between East Prairie and Charleston.

Davis also discussed with the Commission the improvement of Route 80 in the City of East Prairie. However, Chief Engineer M. J. Snider told the group that the section of Route 80 in the city is actually a city street and the Commission has only a maintenance agreement with the city and that rebuilding this stretch from curb to curb would have to be checked into before any Commission action could be taken.

The commission agree, to place the Route 80 improvement on the five- year tentative construction and right of way program as soon as funds are avialable for the project.

Untrained Youth Becomes Electronics Tycoon at 30

CHANUTE, Kan. (AP) — A young man who had no formal training in electronics and admits he still has a lot to learn about them operates an electronics that grossed $6 million last year.

"All of my education has come from associations with other people," says 30-year-old Charles "Bud" Ross. "Now I've reached the point that I might not understand electronics fully, but at least I know what they are talking about.

Ross is president and chief stockholder of Kustom Electonics, Inc., almost overnight a leader in the manufacture of amplifiers for musical instruments.

He used to play guitar in a Kansas City area combo. That's how Ross started in business. His first improvements in sound and appearance were with his own amplifiers. Other musicians expressed interest, and he began filling their orders.

"I remember breaking the wooden handle of a keyhole saw I was using to cut a circle in a ¾-inch plywood for speaker," he said. "I didn't have 50 cents to buy a new handle, so I wrapped a rag around the blade and kept on sawing."

In the Kustom Electronics plant at Chanute saws worth thousands of dollars now perform that task automatically. The plant also manufactures such sidelines as police radar units, electronic musical organs and electronic lecterns, more than 100 units a day.

His firm, largest employer in this southeast Kansas community 125 miles south of Kansas City, has 275 employes and retail outlets through more than 700 music dealers in the U.S. and abroad.

Only seven years ago, Ross was putting together his selfstyled amplifiers by hand in the garage of his home in Overland Park, Kan.,a Kansas City suburb.

He became interested in expanding sales when he realized what a market there was for his merchandise among combo and rock musical groups.

It was not until he was turned down by several music equipment manufacturers that Ross decided to establish a big plant of his own. In 1965, he moved to Chanute and set up shop with the help of the Small Business Administration and the Chanute Development Corp.

That year his company lost $36,310.In 1966 net earning was $36,173, then $169,755 in 1967, $347,064 in 1968, and more than a half million dollars from the $6 million gross in 1969. This year Ross said he expects to gross around $7 million.

He says he always wanted to succeed. "There is a vast difference between someone who wishes to be successful and someone who totally wants to do so," Ross said.

"Business is like anything else. Hard work and concentration. One of the things I have learned is to get by myself in a quiet little place and concentrate. There seems to be an inner self that has the right answer."

He and his wife, Carolyn, have three children.

CANDIDATE LANE AT 100th anniversary of founding of Blodgett gave a big boost to success of contests.

THE WINNING BELLE OF THE CENTENNIAL is Mrs. Annie Riley, center, judged the best dressed in old time costume. At left is first runnerup Virginia Beggs; and second runnerup, Mrs. Doris Riley. They are under a streamer that hung at both entrances of Blodgett.

TAKE IT EASY BOYS, it's wet says George Childers, new laundry owner.

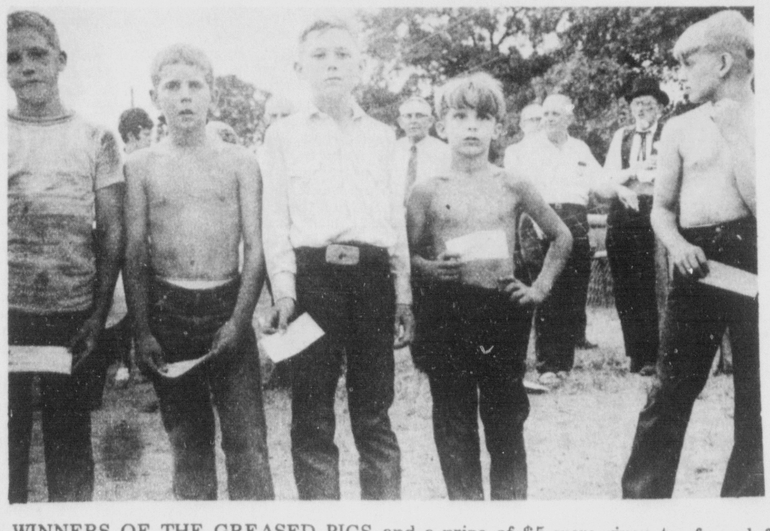

WHY DID I forget my button shouted Junior Householder as he slid in gently.

I'M NOT USED TO This. I just forgot my centennial button, Johnny Peel, handy man, told them.

I HOPE I DON'T DROWN Reece Gates, of the highway department said as he took his dunking.

WINNERS OF THE GREASED PIGS and a prize of $5 were given to, from left, Thomas Jolly 11, Doug Beggs, 10, Ricky Howell 11, Tim Riley 8, and Roy Riley, 11.

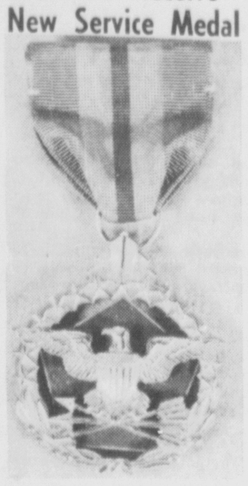

SHE'S ALL MINE said Doug Beggs as he held on to his prized pig.

THE PIG SCRAMBLE brought out dozens of boys and girls.

General Wheeler First To Receive New Service Medal

Defense Distinguished Service Medal

WASHINGTON (ANF) — Army General Earle G. Wheeler, who recently retired as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff (JCS), is the first person to be awarded the newly created Defense Distinguished Service Medal.

The award, the third highest military honor, was presented at a White House Rose Garden ceremony by President Richard Nixon, who said that during the general's distinguished career, he "has been known as a soldier and is proud to be known as a soldier, but I know him as a statesman as well."

The new medal is to be awarded to a military officer who performs "exceptionally meritorious service in a duty of great responsibility with the office of the secretary of defense, the organization of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, a specified or unified command, a defense agency or such other joint activity as may be designated by the secretary of defense."

Only the Medal of Honor and Distinguished Service Cross rank higher than the Defense Distinguished Service Medal. It is one grade higher than the Distinguished Service Medals of the armed forces.

General Wheeler served a record six years as chairman of the JCS.

If You Were the Judge

Girl Watching on Street No Crime

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Soulful Sam could have been an expert when it came to feminine pulchritude. Nightly, he would go to his favorite corner, stand quetly in the shadows of an elm tree and sigh quietly as he watched one pretty girl after another pass through his line of vision.

As he watched the pretty girls, however, two police officers were watching him. Finally they arrested Sam for violating an ordinance that, in effect read, "No person shall loiter on street corners."

"He hung around that corner eyeing girls," the officers told the judge, "like a mouse eyes a piece of cheese."

"There's nothing improper in standing on a corner for the purpose of watching girls go by," was Sam's defense. "It's an all-American pastime and to prohibit it is un- American. Consequently, the loitering stature isn't constitutional."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict Sam of girlwatching in violation of the anti- loitering statute?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that loitering as such is not a crime, that it can become a crime only if it is done for a reason prohibited by law. And the reason Sam stood on the corner was not prohibited by law. (Based upon a 1958 New York Court of Appeals Decision)

Population of Missouri Gains

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Preliminary 1970 census results for Missouri, its counties and major cities. The census bureau says preliminary figures are based on tabulations made in a temporary field office and are subject to later processing and possible revision.

Preliminary figures give the state population as 4,687,759, an increase of 367,946, or 8.5 per cent, since 1960.

Odds Better for Women in Space

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Five women who lived two weeks on the bottom of the sea have increased the odds that lipstick and powderpuffs one day will be standard equipment aboard American spaceships.

But space agency officials caution women's "lib" groups not to get their hopes too high, because it will be eight or nine years before a female flies in a U.S. spacecraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans late in this decade to have space stations orbiting the earth with as many as 50 persons aboard.

That's when women will play a role. But they must be qualified in a medical or scientific field.

The question of women in space came up in Washington Monday when five female scientists and technicians received awards as the first woman team to live and work underwater.

Their undersea stay from July 6 to July 20 was part of a program called Tektite II in which 17 teams, 16 of them men, are taking turns at long submersion in warm water of Great Lameshur Bay in the Virgin Islands.

They lived in a dwelling submerged 50 feet and made frequent trips outside in diving gear to explore marine life.

Project manager for the female team was Richard Sprince of NASA.

Sprince said "we've got to start looking in that direction" when asked whether NASA would consider bringing women into the astronaut program.

He said the women worked as efficiently as men on Tektite II.

A small group of American women have argued for distaff astronauts since the Russians sent the world's only spacewoman, Valentina Tereshkova, into orbit for three days in 1963.

Many U.S. space observers note, however, that the spaceship used then was totally automatic and say the Soviet Union probably sent Valentina up more for propaganda than technical gain.

Up to now, NASA's position has been that it's not that women can't learn to fly in space, but that space is still a pioneering venture for which man is more suited.

A woman, officials say, can always use her perogative to change her mind and get married after NASA has invested several hundred thousand dollars and a lot of time in her training.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief astronaut physician, says it would be nice to have women along on extended flights such as two-year missions to Mars.

But, he cautions, "They've got to be able to do useful work and contribute to the mission, and you certainly can't have just one woman among a lot of men."

Cloud, Deputy Secretary of State, Dies

JEFFERSON CITY, (AP) — Tilghman R. Cloud, Deputy secretary of state for Missouri, died Monday a day after suffering his third heart attack in recent years.

Cloud was 68 last Friday and joined friends, including Supreme Court Judge Robert E. Seiler, in a round of golf that day. His two sons, Roy T. Cloud of Chicago and George William Cloud of Miami, were with him at the end.

His wife, the former Riva E. Heslar, was on a tour of South America and received notice of Cloud's death by cablegram.

Cloud has served as deputy secretary of state after appointment by Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick in 1965. For four years prior to that he was press secretary to then Gov. John M. Dalton.

He was one of the first 10 squires initiated into the Missouri Academy of Squires and was serving as secretary to that honorary organization at the time of his death.

The academy was inauguarted by the late Gov. James T. Blair as a special way to honor Missourians for commendable service to their nation, state or community.

Cloud was publisher of the Pleasant Hill Times from the time he graduated from the University of Missouri school of journalism in 1924 until he and his brother, the late Fred Cloud, sold it about 10 years ago. The Times was started by his father, Roy T Cloud, in 1901, the year before Tilghman Cloud was born in Pleasant Hill.

He went to school there and lived in that Cass County town southeast of Kansas City until coming to Jefferson City in 1961.

Cloud was a past president of the Democratic Editors of Missouri and served at various times as a Pleasant Hill city councilman, president of the Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the Board of public Works.

He was a member of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism fraternity, and the Kansas City Press club.

Services will be Thursday in Pleasant Hill.

Cardwell Mayor Dies

CARDWELL — Mayor William E. (Bill) Grady, Jr., 74, died Saturday at the Dunklin County Memorial hospital.

Services were Tuesday, at 2:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.. Burial was in Cardwell cemetery with the Heath Funeral Home of Paragould, Ark., in charge.

Six Injured

Two from Portageville and four from Fredericktown were injured in two traffic accidents Monday.

Billy Louis Patillo, 39, Portageville, driver of a 1967 Chrysler, lost control of his car, while making a right turn on an exit ramp at junction of Interstate- 55, east of Sikeston, left the road and went down an embankment, Monday at 4:30 p.m., the state patrol reported.

The driver received face cuts, and a passenger, David Patillo, 15, also of Portageville, received minor cuts. Both were taken to Missouri Delta Community hosital.

The driver was given a summons for driving while intoxicated, the patrol said.

A 1965 Chevrolet, driven by Homer H Phillips, 59, Fredericktown, went over the center line, and struck a 1967 Ford, driven by Thomas Chester White, 25, Fredericktown, headon, the patrol charged.

The accident occurred Monday at 10 p.m. on highway 72, three miles east of Fredericktown.

White received a possible chest injury, and a passenger, Willie Maude Guinn, 69, Fredericktown, was bruised.

Phillips received face injuries and knee scratches. A passenger, Donna Sue White, 18, Fredericktown, was bruised.

All were taken to Madison County Memorial hospital, in Fredericktown.
